

AIR QUALITY IN THE SAN JOAQUIN VALLEY

Air quality has improved in the San Joaquin Valley, but we still have some of the dirtiest air in the nation. To help protect the health of Valley families, the Valley Air District has created tough rules to improve air quality. Members of the public, just like you, help us enforce these rules.

Each year, the District investigates thousands of air quality-related complaints from the public.

- Do you smell a strong, unusual odor?
- Do you see a cloud of smoke and think someone is burning illegally?
- Do you see dirt being tracked out onto a public road from a construction area?
- Do you see anything unusual that is creating air pollution?

These could be violations of air quality regulations and should be reported. Complaints will be reviewed and appropriate action will be taken. Responding to complaints in a professional and timely manner is a priority of the District.

Bad smell? Unusual smoke? Dust? The Air District investigates thousands of complaints each year and the public plays a key role in ensuring regulations are followed.

Why File a Complaint?

The public plays an important role in protecting public health by reporting local air quality issues. The District has a team of inspectors that work hard to ensure that all air quality rules and regulations are being followed.

How to File a Complaint?

Filing a complaint is easy. Just call one of the toll-free complaint lines. Please provide as much detail as possible including:

- Time, date and location of possible violation
- Describe what you see, smell and feel
 - See: Smoke, fire, dust, falling ash, etc.
 - Smell: rotten eggs, gasoline, oil, sweet, sour, smoke, etc.
 - Feel: burning eyes, throat/nose irritation, breathing problem, headache, etc.
- Your name, address and phone number

What to Report

Possible air quality violations are:

- Bad odor
- Smoke
- Burn barrels
- Smoking chimneys or use of outdoor burn devices on "No Burn" days (Nov.-Feb.)
- Dust being kicked up by construction

What Happens After I Call in a Complaint?

During the work day, inspectors respond to complaints as soon as possible. After hours, the District's phone system will forward your complaint to an on-call inspector.

The sooner a complaint is received, the sooner an inspector can begin an investigation. Problems should be reported when they are observed.

You should receive a call back from the District by the next business day at the latest responding to your complaint. The District will protect your personal information.
